It would be easier to access notes on the web to print out or provide handouts - even with a printout charges

What was best about this course?

Exposure to basic concepts of religions and current views by philosophers/theologians - It seems that all the religions are "men's religions" - generated by males? Where are the women's religions?

How could this course be improved?

What readings could we pursue (books, articles, etc.)

Comments on specific ratings above:

Handouts would have been helpful - Especially for those of us who had to miss a class. Extensive note taking interferes with the thinking process, yet is necessary to me for review and retention.

What was best about this course?

I very much appreciated the logical analytical approach and the organization of the content. David is a talented instructor who is obviously extremely knowledgeable and yet treated all comments and questions respectfully and without condescension.

David Smith is a very knowledgeable instructor who maintains a fair & objective manner when discussing a very controversial subject.

What was best about this course?

I left each lecture with a mind whirling with ideas, thoughts, questions, etc. that inspired me to learn more. That is the epitome of the value of education, is it not? (Although I'm still the deist I was when this class started.)

How could this course be improved?

Use a microphone for the audience's questions, or have the questions repeated.

One of the best Osher instructors. Bring him back again and again.

What was best about this course?

Instructor's handling of delicate religious topics.
Non-judgmental treatment of different religious beliefs.
Very good at handling class participation, especially people who try to monopolize the discussion.

How could this course be improved?

We all wanted hand-outs for each class. We were too busy listening to take notes.

Comments on specific ratings above:

I attend to hear David, not the other participants.
 Would like it limited to questions, not opinions.
 Also, if others have to speak, they need to speak up or David needs to repeat question or comment.

What was best about this course?

Well organized, David's style.

How could this course be improved?

Have handouts of slide show

Comments on specific ratings above:

David is one of the best instructors I have had at OSHER. He knows his subject matter and delivers his information so I understand the material. He shares his love for philosophy with his audience.

What was best about this course?

The topic and David Smith.

How could this course be improved?

It should be longer.
